ANDREAS HEIN

From trainee to consultant

Andreas Hein underwent a training as an industrial clerk and graduated in business (M.A.), majoring in HR management, from the University of Applied Sciences Berlin. He specialises in talent management, diversity and change management and the impact of digitalisation.

After an internship at BT and two years as a working student in research, he joined us permanently as a research consultant in September 2018 and became a consultant two years later. He advises both our clients and candidates. In addition to his profound research craft, he is proficient in the entire applicant, candidate and client management and the professional 360-degree support of the mandates.

Discretion and open and transparent communication are the cornerstones of a mandate for him - both towards candidates and clients.

His industry focus is on manufacturing/industry, private and public utilities as well as transport/logistics.

Andreas Hein is fluent in English and knows the basics of Spanish.
